Greetings Maple View Families:

I am still a little stunned that we said goodbye to our students for six weeks today. This is my 39th year working in schools and I have never seen anything like this crisis. Thanks to all of you who have asked questions, many of which I still do not have answers for as we wait for the state to give districts direction during this unprecedented event.

I want to communicate today and make you aware of a few things while we are away from our students. First, we will not be sending out six weeks of work from each class. We are waiting for guidance from the state on what will be offered to families in the way of academics. Please be watching your email as further communications will be coming on this and any other news from the district office. It is our hope to have some clear guidance by the middle to the end of next week as to what services the district will be able to offer.

This is brand new territory and we will do our best to communicate what we know in order to keep you informed of school district actions until we are able to return.

I hope that you all stay safe and I hope we will be back together soon. Go Bears!

Andy
